Four things worth watching for on 2026-08-29

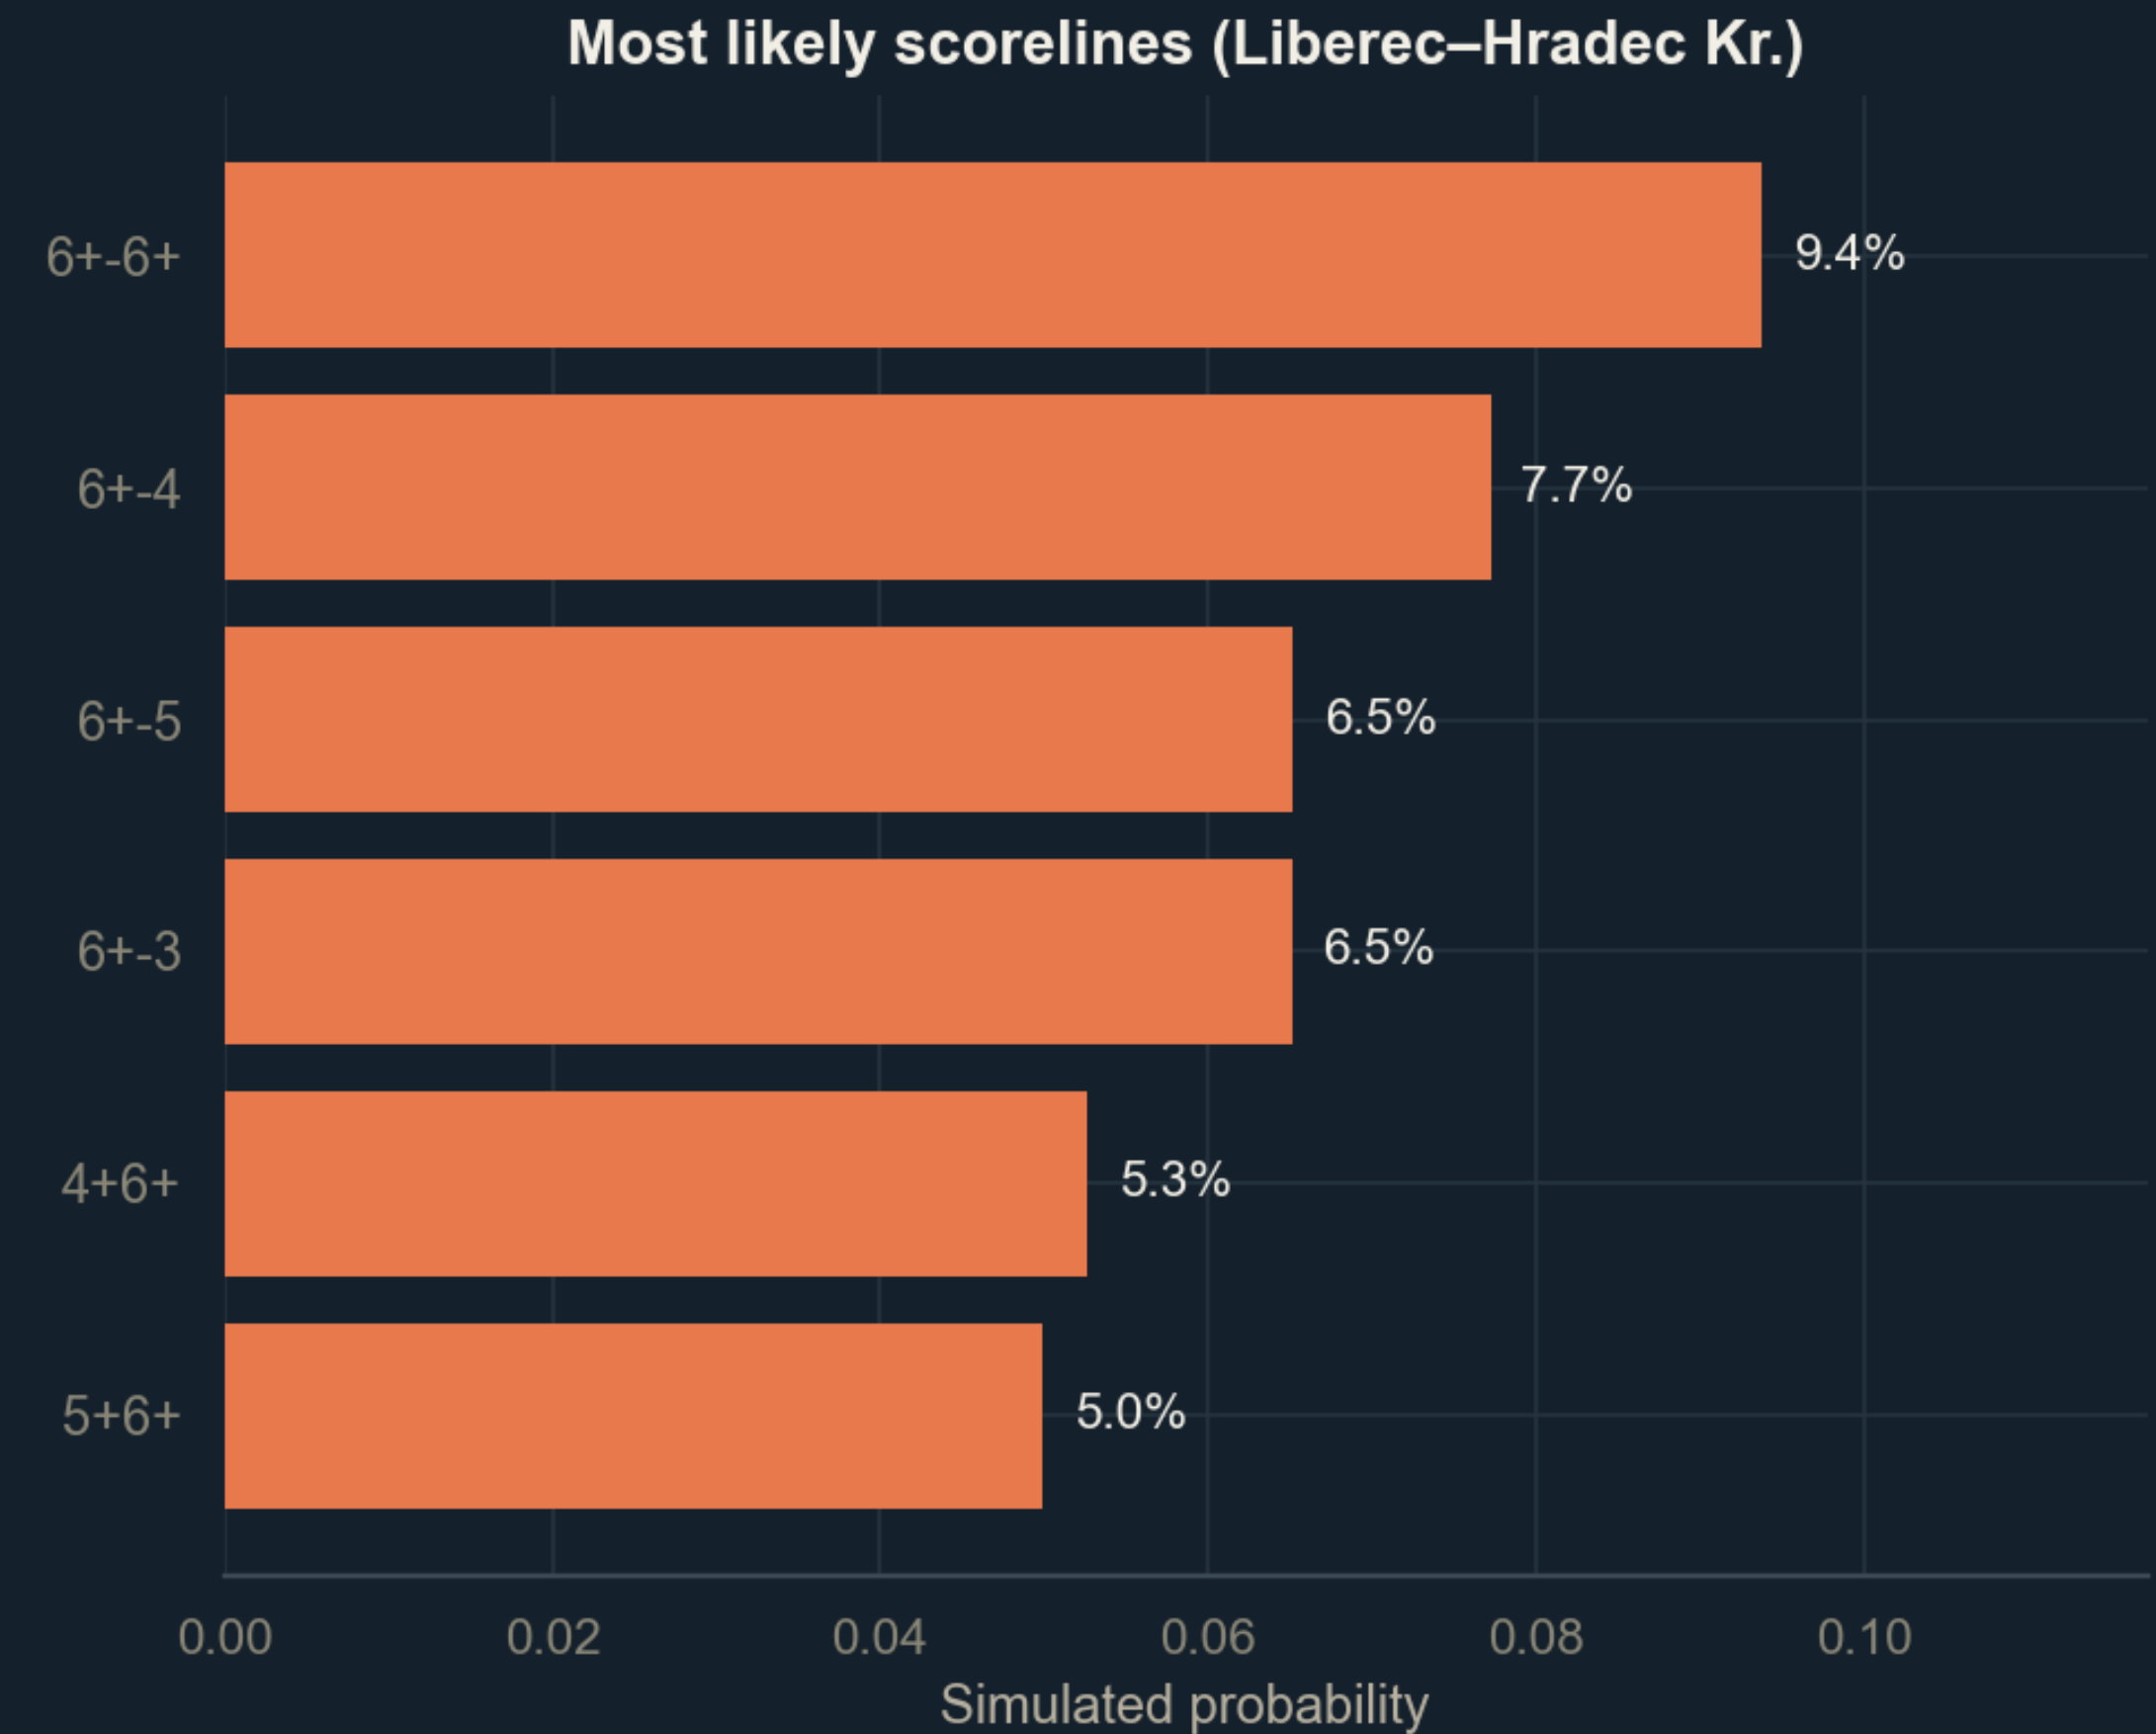

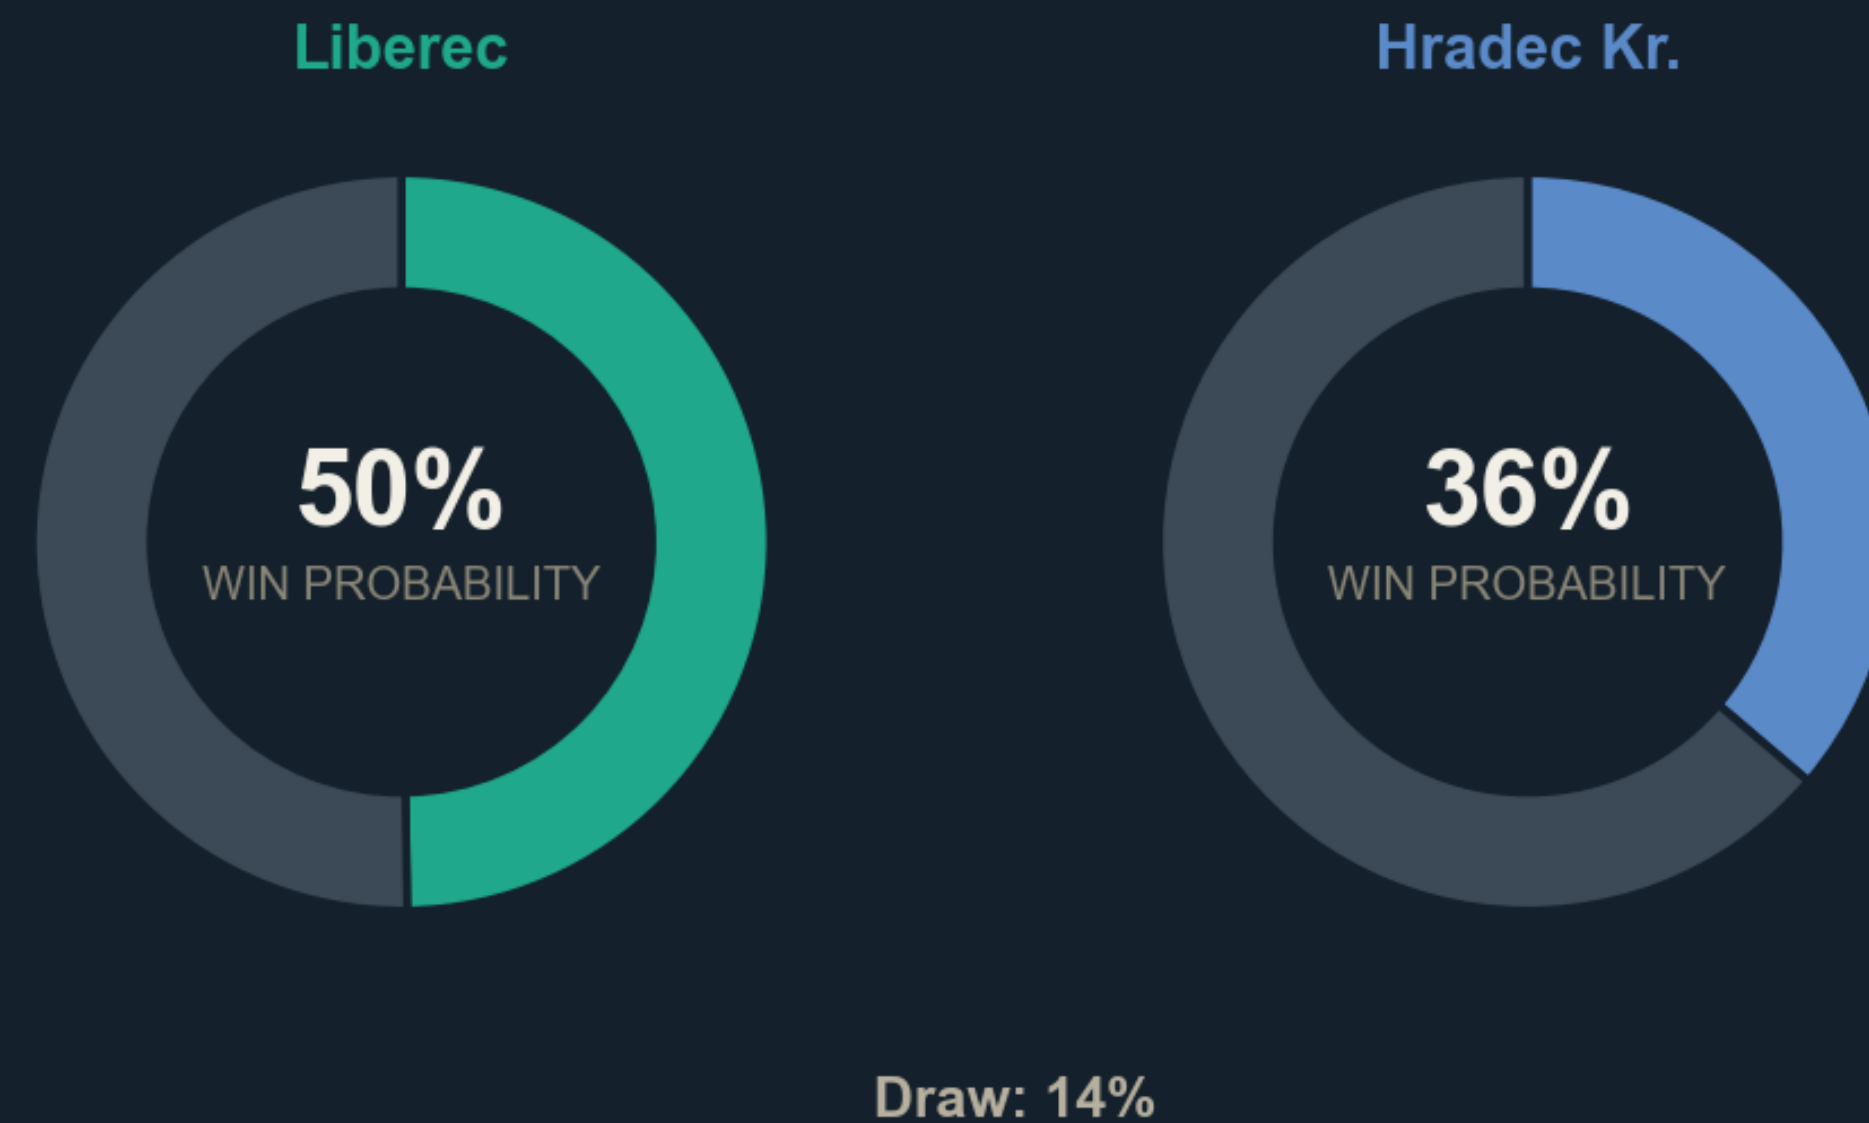

Reasoned from each side's season-to-date numbers

1. Hradec have conceded far less (2.14 xG across 3 matches) than Liberec have (4.66 xG) -- defensive solidity is the clearest gap between the two sides so far, not raw attacking output.
2. Hradec have actually pressed higher so far (PPDA 15.9 vs Liberec's 17.4) -- a more compact, disruptive shape on the road that could suit them if Liberec try to play through the middle.
3. Liberec have generated more shot volume (50 shots, 496 final-third touches) than Hradec (35 shots, 539 final-third touches) -- if that territorial edge holds at home, Hradec will need to defend deep for longer spells and rely on their sharper conversion of the chances they do get.
4. This reads as a contrast in styles rather than a mismatch: Hradec Králové travel unbeaten (2W 1D 0L, 7 pts, 3 matches played) with by far the tighter defensive record, while Liberec's own attack (2W 0D 1L, 6 pts) has produced more shots and more xG at the other end (50 shots for 4.87 xG) -- this looks like a game where Liberec's extra attacking volume meets Hradec's tighter shape, not a routine home banker.

□ Small-sample caveat: every number above is drawn from 3 matches for Liberec and 3 for Hradec so far this season. Treat as an early style signal, not settled form.
